Alsace and Lorraine

From Caesar to Kaiser, 58 B.C.—
1871 A.D.

By RUTH PUTNAM

Author of "Charles the Bold," "William the Silent," "A Mediaeval Princess," Etc.

12°. With 8 Maps. $1.25

From the dim days of European struggle, Alsace and Lorraine have constituted one of the chief storm centers of rival ambitions. Their history has, therefore, an intrinsic importance which attaches to few land groups of similar area. As the almost inevitable prize of a victorious France, they have a special claim upon the attention of those interested in the possible outcome of the present clash of nations.

The Confessions of Frederick the Great

Treitschke's "Life of Frederick"

Edited, with a Topical and Historical Introduction.

By DOUGLAS SLADEN

12°. Probable price, $1.50

The coupling of these two works in a single volume has a significance apart from the fact that they have bearing—the one as an intimate expression, the other as an able biographical sketch—upon one of the great figures of Prussian and world history. Treitschke strongly influences the philosophy of war and the views regarding the destiny of the German nation embodied in Bernhardt's much discussed book, and Frederick's CONFESSIONS, in the opinion of Mr. Sladen, is the soil from which the school of Treitschke and Bernhardt drew sustenance.

Treitschke

12°. Probable price, $1.50

A second series of essays by the great German historian and teacher of the Emperor William and of Bernhardt. This notable collection is headed "Germany, France, Russia and Islam."

Norman Angell

Author of "The Great Illusion," "Arms and Industry," Etc.

12°. Probable price, $1.25

"America and the New World-State" is the title of a new volume by the famous advocate of peace. In it he turns his attention to America. "This book is published," he writes, "in the hope that it may contribute to forming on the part of the American people that 'will' (without which no 'way' can be devised) to take the leadership in the civilization of Christendom, for which its situation and the happy circumstances of its history furnish so good an opportunity."

The Earth: Its Life and Its Death

By A. BERGET

Professor at the Institute Océanographique.

8°. 375 pages, with 30 Diagrams, $1.75

Professor Berget describes the various phenomena that go to make up the life of the world and those earlier phenomena which have marked its growth and evolution, after which, by way of an epilogue to a story of intense fascination, he permits us to witness the death of the globe, that final inevitability which the earth, like the individual, faces, notwithstanding its present abundant vitality.

Full Flexible Leather, $2.50

Here is the first attempt ever made to present a historical and philosophical account of the development of the passion of love in all times, and the best critics declare that Dr. Lucka has succeeded.

The author's main thesis is that genuine love, the synthesis of the sensual and the ideal, is something entirely modern.

Published Jan. 16th.

This volume on American Trees and Shrubs is not only artistic in form but also possesses scientific accuracy and value. The book covers the entire territory of the United States. An important feature is a series of maps showing the habitat of the various species.

COBB ON THE WAR

The famous impressions of the war written at and near the front:

PATHS OF GLORY

By IRVIN S. COBB

Cloth, 12mo., $1.50 Net

Here are all of Cobb's experiences and observations in the Great War, of which the whole country has been talking.

"The paths of glory lead but to the grave," said the poet, and behind all these powerful, fascinating accounts of exactly what Cobb saw, with the eye of genius, is the greatest argument for peace!

Here one sees the efficiency of the Germans, the march of a million men, the smoke from 42-centimetre guns, the tragedy of widowed Belgium—

And with it one sees the necessity of ending war.

A book that will last.

$50 For An Idea

¶ In these times of war and distress the thoughts of men and women everywhere are unconsciously forced into a channel of almost overwhelming seriousness, and when such a condition of mind prevails it is usually accompanied by an underlying though unexpressed desire for something to relieve this trend of thought. Some seek the comfort of companionship, others go in for amusements of various kinds, and there are many — very many — who naturally turn to a good book — to a book that promises to inspire hope and cheer and optimism.

¶ Just such a book, for instance, as Nancy the Joyous, by Edith Stow, which we published last year and advertised as "A Novel of Pure Delight." This novel has given pleasurable entertainment to thousands of readers and stimulated their thoughts with such feelings of good cheer that they look upon life with more courage and hopefulness.

¶ Nancy the Joyous is a success — such a success that a third edition is now in preparation. We have great faith in its ultimate wide circulation, but its initial sale, generous as it was, did not measure up to the real merit of the book. A story that is so genuine, so full of optimism and human appeal, so fitted to the reading need of the moment, ought not to wait for popularity — popularity should wait for it. We want to give Nancy the Joyous now the sale it will have.

¶ All of which suggests the caption at the head of this open letter. We want a practical selling plan that promises to induce a greater immediate demand for Nancy the Joyous, and we will pay $50 for the best one submitted to us before March 1, 1915.

¶ If you have read Nancy the Joyous you may have a good idea to submit. If you have not read it there is a treat in store for you and the inspiration for a good idea.

This offer is open to all.

Very truly yours,

"INFORMATION."

BEGINNING with its February issue, an important editorial change will be made in one of the periodical publications of this office—The Index to Dates. The Index to Dates was started three years ago to fill a well-recognized but at that time entirely unsatisfied need—to furnish an index to the dates of important current events. Indirectly, while complying with its primary purpose, The Index to Dates was an index to the daily newspapers themselves, whose contents were at that time, from a bibliographical standpoint, practically inaccessible and unusable.

Although the support obtained by The Index to Dates has never been sufficient to permit its enlargement to a size enabling it to make a really comprehensive survey of its field, or even to the size and degree of comprehensiveness originally planned, yet, if we may believe our library friends, The Index to Dates has proved sufficiently useful to them to encourage us to attempt its considerable amplification. We have determined, beginning next month, the issue covering the record for January, 1915, materially to enlarge its size and scope by issuing the material of which it is composed in digest rather than merely index form. At the same time, as more descriptive of its broadened field, its title will be changed to Information.

We are encouraged to believe that Information will prove not only of further value to the larger libraries from whom the present subscription support of The Index to Dates chiefly comes, but also to smaller libraries, including those which do not at present bind and preserve files of daily newspapers, as well as to the scholarly world and individuals generally to which The Index to Dates made, necessarily, more limited appeal, for where The Index to Dates required, in general, reference to the original source (a newspaper) for the information sought, Information will endeavor to present the facts themselves in digest form. Complete date reference will, however, be continued, maintaining the value of Information on the index side.

Information will be materially different in format from The Index to Dates and practically doubled in size. Its contents will be cumulated quarterly as before. Despite the increased expense, both editorially and in manufacture, the subscription price will, for the present, at least, remain unchanged at $4, as it is expected that increased circulation will offset increased costs.

AN "annual summary" of the work of the New York Booksellers' League School during 1914 is not altogether satisfactory, it must be confessed. That the school has not given its full measure of service would not seem to be the fault of the committee, Mr. Huebsch in particular, deserving every credit for his untiring and quite unpaid work. The trouble seems to be that the committee is in the position of the farmer who tries to fatten a pig that won't eat. The meeting of the school at the National Arts Club was attended by a scant thirty people, and, worse than that, the attendance was conspicuous for its lack of the particular class for whom the school lectures are designed—young book clerks. And, in the lack of clear evidence to the contrary, the blame for their non-attendance must be placed back upon their employers, who are unaware or indifferent to the value of these trade lectures. At the next meeting of the school, Monday night, at the Scribner store, John J. Wood, of the Burrows Brothers Co., will speak. Those who have heard Mr. Wood talk on the subject of "live" bookselling, know that he is a crackling dynamo generating book-selling ideas. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that it means dollars and cents to a bookseller to have his clerks hear such a talk, and if that is a fact, booksellers should not only pass the word around the store that Mr. Wood will talk; they should let the clerks know that they are expected to attend and should, further, put them on their mettle by being there themselves. The time of the meeting has purposely been set at 7 o'clock, so as to allow clerks from all parts of New York, from Brooklyn, and even from places as distant as Newark, ample time to reach the Scribner store. Of course, the League's course of lectures is not ideal; no one realizes their lack of careful co-ordination better than those who have arranged for them and have sacrificed time and energy to give them. But they are all helpful and vital, and the best way to make them better is to give them enthusiastic and consistent support.

THE amendment to the copyright law pressed last year by Mr. George W. Ogilvie, then introduced by Mr. Levy on request and known as the Levy Bill, has reappeared this session in condensed form in the House as H. R. 21137, introduced by Chairman Oldfield with a favorable report from the majority of the Patents Committee. It has slight chance of consideration and passage at this short session, but it should not pass at all—at least as an amendment to the copyright law. So far as it emphasizes that copyright protection cannot be extended beyond the copyright period it is superfluous; so far as it justifies misleading the public by "unfair use" of a trade-mark title, it is unjust. The amendment is simply an endeavor to use Congress to reverse the courts and mislead the public. Those who believe in fair play should oppose the bill.

METHODIST BOOK COMPANY'S NEW TORONTO BUILDING.

TORONTO.—The new building of the Methodist Book and Publishing Company at Queen, Richmond and John Streets is now practically completed. As previously announced, the new plant of the company is by far the largest building devoted to publishing in the Dominion of Canada, while it is the largest religious publishing building in the world. Its cost, exclusive of plant, reached one million dollars, and with plant included its value totals a million and a half.

The history of the company is an interesting one. It was established in 1829 by the Methodist Conference of that day. Its original capital amounted to $1,000, contributed by ten ministers, who each put up a hundred dollars to get it going. Since then not one cent has been invested in the business which went on growing by itself, rolling up the thousand dollars into a huge sum. Their investment was subsequently returned to the ten shareholders and the company became vested in the Methodist Conference. All profits are paid into the superannuation fund of the Church.

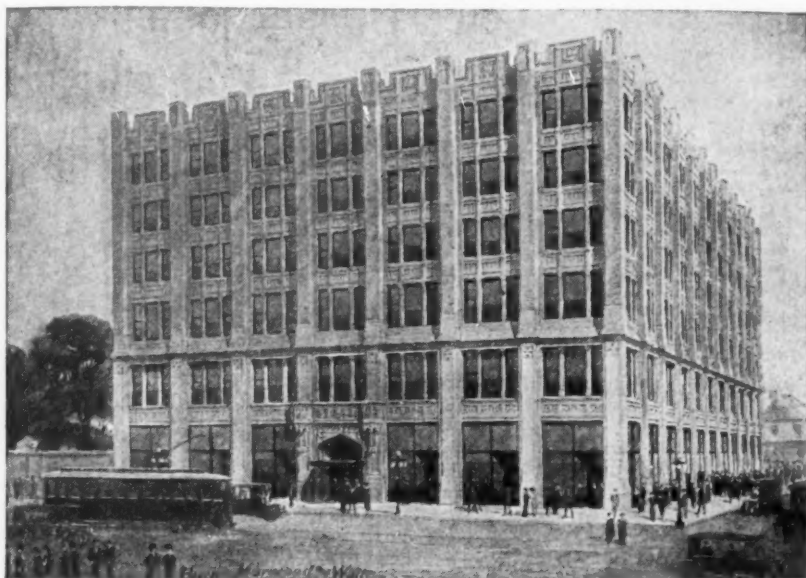

To-day the company does the major portion of the publishing of Canadian books, operates a large wholesale and library book business, prints numerous periodicals and conducts one of the largest printing plants in Canada, having for one thing the contract for all the government printing in Ontario.

The new building is the latest word in construction, having been planned after long and careful study of requirements and considerable investigation in the United States. It will contain every modern convenience and will be so laid out as to facilitate the various operations of the business.

LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY CLOSE THEIR NEW YORK SUBSCRIPTION DEPARTMENT.

LITTLE BROWN & Co. announce the closing of their subscription department in New York City, which for the past nine years has been under the management of Mr. Charles T. Dillingham. The changing conditions in the selling of standard sets has led this firm practically to withdraw from activity in this branch of publishing.

Mr. Dillingham has been in charge of Little, Brown & Co.'s New York office since 1905, previous to which, for several years, he was associated with J. F. Taylor & Co., and still earlier with the subscription department of Robert Brothers, of Boston. He leaves active business temporarily only, and is planning to make a trip to Los Angeles with his wife to visit their son who is running a ranch not far from that city. He withdraws for the moment from that familiar Mecca of the book-trade, the Presbyterian Building, 156 Fifth Avenue, where his open door was a symbol of the warm welcome that radiated from his cozy office. He is, however, too active a man to remain out of touch very long with the trade and will probably soon announce new business connections.

NOTES FROM AUSTRALIA.

THE AUSTRALASIAN NEWS Co. reports a successful year, devoted chiefly to establishing trade in American magazines. It states that while the Australian public evidently has less purchasing power this is resulting not so much in its buying less than it would regularly, as in its buying at lower prices. Expensive magazines have lost sale in favor of cheaper ones, so that cheaper ones are doing rather better than could have been expected. A trade in cheap American books is also said to be beginning.

JUST-BEFORE-CHRISTMAS reports from Australia vary all the way from, "Trade has been dead since the outbreak of the war" to "Business is keeping up pretty well to normal." One bookseller of an original turn of mind attributes the dull trade just as much to "the abnormally dry season" as to "the ambitions of Potsdam." Novels at 1s. 3d. were in good demand, with a marked effect on the sales of three-and-sixpennies—so much so that, in the opinion of one bookseller, new novels of the ordinary kind will have to be published in the shilling editions very shortly after their first appearance. There was also some expectation that prices might be raised—the regular sixpennies going up to sevenpence and sixpenny odd lines to ninepence.

A THOROUGH REVISION OF THE AUSTRALIAN TARIFF in the Protectionist direction has been promised by the present (Labor) Government, and a long enquiry has been undertaken in order to gather preliminary information. The Government has anticipated the results of this enquiry in a new tariff enforced from December 4, last, which in essence is designed to raise additional revenue while maintaining the protectionist tendency and increasing the preference given to British goods against foreign. A leading feature of this new tariff is the increase of customs and excise taxes on intoxicants and tobaccos. Books remain free of duty. The new foreign duty of 10 per cent. on foreign fashion plates and fashion books (British, free) operates against imports of U. S., as well as of European goods. It offers a liberal bonus to British fashion publishers. The printing trade is assisted by an increased duty of 2d. per pound on printed music, diaries, calendars, catalogues, and printed material with an advertising purpose.

SYDNEY BOOKSELLERS recently agreed upon a general increase in retail prices, adding from one to three d. to the price of books formerly retailing up to 2s. 6d., adding 6d. to those retailing from 3 to 6s., a shilling to those from 6s. 6d. to 10s., and 1s. 6d. to those previously 10s. 6d. Net books were advanced more than non-net books; thus the 8s., 6d. net book instead of advancing to 9s., 6d. like the 8s., 6d. non-net book has now become 12s., or the same price as the non-net book which originally retailed at 10 and 6d. In connection with this increase in retail prices, Messrs. Edwards, Dunlop and Co. Ltd., and George Robertson and Co. Prop. Ltd. (Sydney) have raised their wholesale figures, bringing the new wholesale price in many cases to within a few pence of the former retail price. No advance was made in either wholesale or retail price of certain classes of books, including Australian publications, juveniles, and picture books.

BROWNE & HOWELL CO. FILE PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY.

As we go to press we learn that the Browne & Howell Company, of 608 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, have filed a petition in bankruptcy.

The firm was started in the fall of 1912 as F. G. Browne & Co., Frank L. Howell being Mr. Browne's associate. Mr. Browne had had long publishing experience with A. C. McClurg & Co., and had also acted as business manager of the Dial. Mr. Howell had been on McClurg's traveling force.

In the summer of 1913 the firm was incorporated under the name Browne & Howell Co., with a capital stock of $60,000, F. G. Browne being president and treasurer, and Frank L. Howell vice-president and secretary. The rapid growth of the firm was considered a matter for congratulation.

Last fall a bookstore in connection with the firm was opened at 824 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

TRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE Board of Trade of the American Booksellers' Association held a meeting Wednesday last at E. P. Dutton Company's store, New York City. Present: Charles E. Butler, W. H. Arnold, Louis Keating, H. S. Hutchinson, F. D. Lacy, Theodore E. Schulte, Eugene R. Herr, Charles A. Burkhardt, and E. Byrne Hackett. Routine business was discussed and reports of committees heard. The next meeting of the full board is called for Wednesday, February 24.

COPYRIGHT NOTES.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT WOULD ABOLISH "SECONDARY MEANING" RIGHT.

MR. OLDFIELD introduced into the House of Representatives on January twenty-third a bill (H. R. 21137) to amend section twenty-three of the copyright act which is simply a briefer statement of the Levy bill introduced on May 2d of last year. It provides that: "Upon the expiration of the copyright of a book, or the renewal thereof should the same be renewed, there shall exist no superior rights of any nature whatsoever in the publisher or former proprietor thereof to the matter which has been the subject of copyright or to the name or title thereof, but both the matter which has been the subject of copyright and its name or title shall fall into the public domain and thereafter be forever free to the unrestricted use of the public." The bill was referred to the Committee on Patents and has received its recommendation.

OBITUARY NOTES.

DR. CHARLES ROSS JACKSON, a well-known physician and surgeon, died at Lake Placid on January 4. He was the author of "The Sheriff of Wasco," "Quintus Oakes," "The Third Degree," and "Tucker Dan."

WILLIAM H. LEWIS, owner of the largest book and stationery store in Shamokin, Pa., was seized with a sudden attack of valvular heart trouble while on the way to his office on January 13th and expired within a few minutes. Mr. Lewis, who was 58 years old, has suffered numerous attacks from his heart in recent years and his end did not come as a surprise to his friends. He was long a prominent citizen of Shamokin and is survived by a wife and two children.

THE DEATH on Jan. 4th from enteritis of CHARLES FRANCIS CAZENOVE, of the Literary Agency of London, and the export firm of C. D. Cazenove & Son, comes as a shock to many of the trade in America. A man of marked vigor and charm—he was only 44 at the time of his death—he was noted for his diplomacy in the world of books. As a literary agent he showed both experience and astuteness, and many a young writer owes much to his kindly guidance. The affairs of the book trade, in England, America and the Colonies, unfailingly interested him, and he was one of the few keen men to watch and provide for important new developments, as his occasional contributions to special journals showed. Among the publishers of London, the wide circle of his own clients, and in such coteries as the Yorick Club and the Cemented Bricks he will be sincerely mourned.

ANNA WARNER, "Amy Lothrop," died at her home in Highland Falls, N. Y., on January 22d, at the age of 87, following an attack of pneumonia in December. Miss Warner and her sister Susan, "Elizabeth Wetherell," are probably best known in the book world as the authors of that old favorite, "The Wide, Wide World." The two sisters took up literary work after their father had lost the greater part of his fortune in litigation. In addition to "The Wide Wide World" they wrote together: "Say and Seal"; "Wych Hazel"; and "Gold of Chickaree." Anna Warner wrote alone: "Dollars and Cents," "My Brother's Keeper," "Patience," "Sunday All the Week," "Star Out of Jacob," "The Fourth Watch," "The Other Shore," "What Aileth Thee, Little Nurse of Cape Cod?" "The Light of the Morning," "Blue Flag and Cloth of Gold," "Yours and Mine," "The Shoes of Peace," "Pond Lily Stories," "West Point Colors," "Stories of Blackberry Hollow," "Stories of Vinegar Hill,"

"Robinson Crusoe's Farmyard," "Ellen Montgomery's Bookshelf," (except half of one volume); "Melody 23d Psalm"; "Three Little Spades"; "Tired Church Members"; "Up and Down the House"; "Cross Corners"; "Books of Blessing" (half by sister); "Miss Muff"; "Fresh Air Jack's Four Lessons"; "Wayfaring Hymns"; "Hymns of the Church Militant"; and "Susan Warner, 'Elizabeth Wetherell'."

The sisters started a Bible class thirty-five years ago for West Point cadets, and it proved so popular that during recent years 100 cadets went weekly to the classes at their home on Constitution Island. This island, which they owned, was deeded to the Government a few years ago for Military Academy uses.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

"THE VOICE IN THE FOG" by Harold McGrath will be published by Bobbs-Merrill on February 6.

SCRIBNER HAS JUST ISSUED a new edition of William Morton Fullerton's "Problems of Power," revised in the light of the present situation and carried up to the outbreak of the Great War.

"THE MAN OF IRON," Richard Dehan's novel of Bismarck and the Franco-Prussian war which was originally scheduled for November, will be brought out this month by Stokes, probably on the nineteenth.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish on February 13th: "Amarilly of Clothes-line Alley," by Belle K. Maniates, "Sheep's Clothing" by Louis Joseph Vance, and "Homeburg Memories" by George Fitch.

POLLYANNA IS COMING BACK! The Page Co. announce her for March 1st or thereabouts. Eleanor H. Porter has kept her the same "glad" girl, although at the outset she is a year older than at the close of the first "Pollyanna." Then several years elapse and at the close of the book she is actually in love and going to be married!

ON FEBRUARY 15, DORAN will publish "The Theatre of Ideas," by Henry Arthur Jones, a collection of three short plays, with an introduction satirizing the many freak theatre movements of the day, as well as the peace movement. Mr. Jones' "The Lie," which is now appearing in New York, will also be published during the spring.

THE REILLY & BRITTON Co. are offering in place of the traditional "penny for your thoughts" fifty dollars for your thoughts—providing you have a live eight-cylinder thought that can win their contest for a practical selling plan that promises to induce a greater immediate demand for "Nancy the Joyous." Your thoughts are eligible until March 1st.

"THE ANNUAL AMERICAN YEAR BOOK" will be published by D. Appleton & Co. on February 1st. On February 12th will appear from this house: "Felix Tells It," by Lucy Pratt, in which little "Felix," goaded by being told that Macaulay wrote a book at the age of ten, writes a book telling about fathers and mothers; "The Little Missioner" by Nina Wilcox Putnam, in which a girl brought up to be a missionary finds a real romance at home and "doesn't go to the heathen"; and "C. O. D." a murder-mystery story by Natalie Sumner Lincoln which involves the diplomatic corps at Washington.

MITCHELL KENNERLEY will start his spring season on February 6th with the five following books: "The Primal Law," by Isabel Ostrander; "Can A Man Be True?" by Winifred Graham, a romance of the good old "Prisoner of Zenda" type; a peculiar book of "Post Impressionist Poems," by Horace Holley, whose "Bahaim" appeared last autumn; a study of Stevenson by Frank Swinnerton, the novelist; "The World of H. G. Wells," the first book published in this country on the most active of English authors; and "Carranza and Mexico," by Carlo de Fornaro, who was imprisoned for a year by the agents of Diaz, and who here treats of events during the last three years.

OFTTIMES ONE SNEAKS AWAY from the bookstore, some prized new volume under his arm, with the thought pestering him that maybe he ought not to have yielded that time, and should rather have passed the book by on the other side and used the money for new half-soles for his shoes or some equally pressing purpose. There need be no such twinges of conscience, however, for him who purchases "King Albert's Book," the tribute to the Belgian King and people from over 200 representative men and women throughout the world, published in this county by Hearst's International Library Co., for all the publishing profits from its sale will, according to its publishers, go to the Belgian Fund. Perhaps that's one of the reasons this interesting work has already sold to the number of 600,000 copies in England.

FROM THE DIM DAYS of European struggle Alsace and Lorraine have constituted one of the chief storm-centers of rival ambitions and Ruth Putnam's history of this region, "Alsace and Lorraine From Cæsar to Kaiser," coming at this time, is particularly timely. Along with this book was published on January 23d by the Putnams "Three Gentlemen from New Caledonia" by R. D. Hemingway and Henry de Halsalle, the prize-winning novel in the competition conducted by the Daily Express of London which deals with the subsequent adventures of three criminals who escape from the penal colony of New Caledonia, ripe for more crime and calculating revenge. On February 6 the Putnams will issue "Rhymes of Little Folks" by Burges Johnson and two of Mr. Johnson's earlier books "Rhymes of Home" and "Rhymes of Little Boys," the publication of which was recently taken over by them.

TO THOSE WHO JOURNEYED through "The Mountains," "The Forest" and "The Land of Footprints" with Stewart Edward White, one of the publishing events of the spring will be the appearance of his new book, "The Rediscovered Country." Among the other books which Doubleday, Page announce for the spring are: "The Man Who Rocked the Earth" by Arthur Train; "Ruggles of Red Gap" by Harry Leon Wilson, author of "Bunker Bean"; "Martha of the Mennonite Country" by Helen R. Martin; "The Idyl of Twin Fires" by Walter Prichard Eaton; "The Gardening Blue Book" by Leicester B. Holland; "818 Plans for Bungalows and Houses from $500 to $10,000"; "Efficiency in the Household" by Thetta Quay Franks; "Patriel" by Victorien Sardou and "The Thief" by Henry Bernstein, both in the Drama League Series; "Advertising—Selling the Consumer" by John Lee Mahin; and The American Books, the new series dealing with American problems.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made Saturday of the granting of a New York charter to Premier Service, Inc., a new advertising service organization, with headquarters in New York City, of which Richard B. G. Gardner, now well-known to the book trade through his managership of the Publishers' Co-operative Bureau, will be the managing director. The new concern, plans to operate not as an agency but as advisers and counselors in productive advertising, specializing in merchandising analyses, selling plans, creative work among dealers, development of trade and consumer demand, printed campaigns, business management, accountancy, and conservative efficiency methods. The Premier Service, Inc., will be ready for business February 15th and will have offices in the Cuyler Building, 116 West 32d St. Mr. Gardner will continue to direct The Publishers' Co-operative Bureau. He states that he will be supported in his new work by a well-balanced staff of advertising, plan, copy, art, printing and business specialists.

"THE HOME OF THE BLIZZARD," the account of the Australian Antarctic Expedition of 1911-14, which Lippincott will publish immediately, bids fair to be one of the important works of the new year, and the fact that its author, Sir Douglas Mawson, is at present lecturing in this country means some mighty good free publicity for the book in certain cities. The Mawson Antarctic Expedition brought back to civilization the first extensive moving pictures of Arctic life and natural history ever made. A. Radclyffe Dugmore, the noted naturalist and photographer of wild life, said of them: "It would be difficult to imagine any more perfect. I have never seen any that surpass them both in beauty and interest." Anthony Fiala, himself a famous explorer, calls them "A wonderful series of photographs." The forthcoming book will be illustrated with hundreds of the same photographs. Sir Douglas lectured this month in Washington, New York, Philadelphia and Canada. On February 5 he will lecture in Cleveland; on the 6th in Detroit; the 8th in Baltimore; the 10th, Harrisburg; the 11th, Buffalo; 12th, Ann Arbor; 13th and 15th, Chicago; 16, Des Moines; 18th, St. Louis; and the 22d, Madison, Wis.

Ames, Franklin T. Between the lines in Belgium; a boy's story of the great European War; il. by Wa. S. Rogers. N. Y., Dodd, Mead. c. 312 p. D $1 n.

Begins a new series of stories for boys about the present war. Two American boys are in Belgium at the outbreak of the war. Once they are taken as enemies by the Belgians; later, by the Germans, from whom they escape in a thrilling manner.

Aspinall, Algernon E. The pocket guide to the West Indies; British Guiana, British Honduras, the Bermudas, the Spanish Main, and the Panama Canal. Chic. and N. Y., Rand, McNally. c. '07-'14 7+488 p. il. pls. col. maps plans tab. S $1.50 n.

Baker, G. P. The magic tale of Harvanger and Yolande. N. Y., Doran. c. '14 359 p. D $1.35 n.

Mediaeval tale following the fortunes of Harvanger: how he set out to find the most beautiful thing in the world: how he found Yolande in a fair valley: how he wooed her and married her: and how they reigned well in a new country, where they were "happy ever after."

Baldwin, Ja. Mark. Genetic theory of reality; being the outcome of genetic logic as issuing in the æsthetic theory of reality called pancalism; with an extended glossary of terms. N. Y., Putnam. c. 17+335 p. O $2 n.

Argues for a "constructive affectivism," making art the highest vehicle of human apprehension and expression. To this theory in its scientific form—anticipated speculatively by Aristotle, Kant, and Schelling—he gives the name Pancalism. Completes the treatment of genetic logic as presented in author's "Thought and things."

Bank, W. Dane, pseud. James. N. Y., Doran. 320 p. D $1.25 n.

Strikingly-told story that touches the high places in the life of James, who meant to succeed. James is not like Denry (that other audacious son of a widow) who enjoyed the playing of the game: it is life and death with James. He doesn't know when he is beaten; he does not count what his successes cost other people; he stands alone. When he is almost ruined, he recovers through his usual masterfulness.

Baudissin, Wolf, Count von [Baron von Schlicht, pseud.]. Life in a German crack regiment. N. Y., Dodd, Mead. 7+319 p. D $1 n.

"The Golden Butterflies" posed as the most aristocratic and exclusive regiment in Germany. No officer from the middle class was tolerated in its ranks until Lieut. Winkler was appointed at the express command of the Kaiser. Lieut. Winkler's experiences give the author opportunity to describe social life in Berlin, military morals, and the exalted codes of the aristocracy. Book's publication in Germany had the consequences usual to exposés of the military caste. Yale University has adopted this book for its courses in modern history.

Benson, Arth. Christopher. The orchard pavilion. N. Y., Putnam. c. '14 13+136 p. S $1 n.

Three young men, standing individually for the artistic, the scientific, and the religious life, take a holiday together. They met in an old pavilion and discuss their aims and beliefs. Thirty years later they have a reunion and tell frankly of the experiences of the intervening years.

Ervine, St. John G. Mrs. Martin's man. N. Y., Macmillan. c. 312 p. D $1.35 n.

James Martin returned to his wife's house after an absence of sixteen years. He was a sailor whom no one thought worthy of Martha Mahaffy. The first few years of their marriage he had come home from voyages. But when there was reason for gossip about him and Esther Mahaffy, he disappeared. With a shop that did well, Martha and her children and Esther got on. The children knew nothing of their father. Esther longed secretly for his return. When he came, a brutal man, she had her punishment. In this crisis, Martha was everyone's friend. She arranged for James to stay with her, and for Esther to open in a shop in Belfast and take there the nephew she loved. Steadfast to her view of life, this middle-aged Martha is a true heroine.

Funk & Wagnalls Co. The desk standard dictionary of the English language; designed to give the orthography, pronunciation, meaning, and etymology of about 80,000 words and phrases in the speech and literature of the English-speaking people; 1200 pictorial il.; abridged from the Funk & Wagnall's New standard dictionary of the English language by Ja. C. Fernald. N. Y., Funk & W. c. 8+893 p. O $1.50 n.

Germany's war mania; the Teutonic point of view as officially stated by her leaders; a collection of speeches and writings by the German Emperor, the German Crown Prince, and others. N. Y., Dodd, Mead. 272 p. D $1 n.

"The power to will" as defined by the Kaiser, Crown Prince, Dr. V. Bethmann-Hollweg, Prince von Bülow, Gen. von Bernhardi, Gen. von der Goltz, Gen. von Clausewitz, Prof. von Treitschke, and Prof. Delbrück.

Hall, Harry Reginald Holland. Ægean archaeology; an introduction to the archaeology of prehistoric Greece. N. Y., Putnam. '14 21+269 p. il. col. front. pls. fold. map O $3.75 n.

Concerned with the actual results of the excavations in Crete and Greece, and the "cultural" conclusions drawn from them. The relation between legend and this Minoan and Mycenaean period of Greek history is treated in author's earlier "Ancient history of the near East." Present book describes the scope of the diggings, the experts who have directed them, and the stone and metal objects, pottery and architecture that have been uncovered.

Hemingway, R: D'Oyly, and Halsalle, H: de. Three gentlemen from New Caledonia. N. Y., Putnam. c. '14 4+437 p. 12° $1.35 n.

Ripe for more crime, and calculating revenge, these three "Invisibles" escape from the penal colony of New Caledonia. Story moves to an English estate from which are stolen treasures of staggering value. The owner of the pilfered house, for reasons of his own (only revealed at the end) discourages police investigation. Novel won the prize in the Daily Express (London) 1914 competition.

The Publishers' Weekly

Subscription Rates.

One year, postage prepaid in the United States, $4.00; foreign, $5.00.

Single copies, 10 cents. Educational Number, in leatherette, 50 cents; Christmas Bookshelf, 25 cents.

Advertising Rates.

One page	$25 00
Half page	14 00
Quarter page	7 00
Eighth page	4 00
One-sixteenth page	2 00

The above rates are for unspecified positions. Special rates for preferred positions (full pages only).

Higher rates are charged for the Summer Reading, Educational Number and Christmas Bookshelf, and for the monthly Book Review supplement sections.

Advertising copy should reach us Tuesday noon—earlier if proof is desired out-of-town. Forms close Thursday night.

Under the heading, "BOOKS WANTED," book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertisement for specific books out of print in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding 100 lines a year. If over five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line. Books not out of print, unspecified wants, repeated matter, and all advertisements from non-subscribers, cost 10 cents a line. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY, does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

"Books Wanted" must be designated by actual title, not by "any."

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Under "BOOKS FOR SALE" or for other small undisplayed advertisements, the charge is 10 cents a nonpareil line. No reduction for repeated matter. Count seven words to the line.

Life in a German Crack Regiment

By BARON von SCHLICHT

40,000 Copies were Sold in Germany
Before it was Suppressed

This striking story by a Prussian officer tells a story of life in one of the crack regiments in the Prussian army. It tells so much that the German government suppressed it. To Americans it presents wonderfully interesting glimpses into the inside of the German military machine, and is a book that a great many people are going to buy, and are beginning to buy.
